Astrologer & Astrological
Content Creator

Hi, I'm Rhianne Louise McNally

I've lived a life shaped by dualities, set in motion by my birth under a waning Gemini Moon in the 9th house—moving between countries, cities, lifestyles, and languages, and often between passions and a sense of belonging.

I earned a B.A. in Fashion Design, motivated by a lifelong interest in clothing as a medium of transformation and self-expression. After two decades in the fashion industry, I transitioned to focus on astrology, a practice I have developed over more than a decade and for which I have been consistently sought out for professional consultations.

Under the cosmic storm I've been living through, with my third progressed Moon square and the union of my luminaires, I have fully committed to becoming a full-time astrologer. Of course, I should have always known this, as Virgo rising with a Gemini Midheaven.

My expertise lies in comprehensive natal chart readings. I use charts as my primary tool to illuminate a person's life pattern: their past influences, family dynamics, health tendencies, and likely developmental pathways. I specialize in medical astrology and believe that a thoughtful assessment of health and vitality is essential to any accurate life reading.

I have read natal charts professionally for 10 years, for a select roster of long-term clients. This has allowed me to deepen my study of astrology while continuing to grow my consultative work. In addition to running my astrology business, I have a background in copywriting and have written horoscopes for websites and marketing copy for fashion brands.

I leverage my experience in brand communication to translate complex astrological information into a clear, compassionate roadmap. I provide practical guidance and insights clients can apply to major decisions and everyday life.

I was born in Canada, lived in Europe for 12 years, and have been based in Los Angeles for the past four. My clientele is international and continues to grow through a global network of contacts. I produce daily horoscopes, in-depth natal chart guides, fated and medical readings, and educational materials that teach astrology as a tool to read the past, present, and future

I also regularly publish analyses of astrological events using mythological and philosophical frameworks on my Substack. Astrology is my devoted, magical language; over a decade I've built a loyal client base and continue to expand my practice while sharing this work to help others understand and navigate their lives.

To the left is my natal chart - a snapshot of destiny, fate written in the stars. Born with 22° Virgo rising, my diurnal chart aligns my Gemini Moon toward Mars in the 9th house, with Mercury as my ruler. I am traveled and restless; I will live abroad, always in countries to my west. Jupiter and Venus kiss my ascendant in Virgo, making me humble and curious - an almost mirror, though opposite, alignment to astrologer Evangelina Smith Adams. Venus in the cadent 12th lends me a talent for prediction and foretelling for those eager to hear what the stars reveal. I know this is a slow game, one made with perseverance, because my Saturn in Aquarius trines my Mars and Midheaven in Gemini - splitting me into a journey of many careers and pathways, but always unconventional and governed by integrity, even words like "uncorrupted freedom." I am made to communicate; I cannot escape the ingenious unconventionality of my Mercury in Leo conjunct Chiron in the 11th house. Luckily with 28° Leo Sun I will always attract because I effortlessly draw attention. Everything said, I am what you see: a small, dark-haired Virgo woman, beady eyes and youthful features, a Gemini Moon; as I was in the womb, I will be in the tomb.

Astrology is all I know, it's the language that I speak.

THANK YOU.
